Troy Lowe CEO / SWAT Medic

Troy Lowe is a professional who has dedicated his life to protecting and healing those who are defenseless, ill or wounded. Troy is what's known as a "triple-hatter" with a background in military, fire and law enforcement. He has worked all over the U.S. and in multiple countries across the world, with tasks ranging from treatment of malaria-stricken villagers to humanitarian missions after natural disasters to treatment of ill and wounded military personnel downrange.

The SILVERBACK STS CADRE is comprised of combat Veterans, a few alphabet types and current SWAT operators and TEMS medics. We offer our clients a peek into an "in your face" and realistic life-saving hands on stress inoculation training, which is better than anything you'll find on the market. We shine the light on the scenarios that keep you up at night. We train these scenarios to break it, fix it, and repeat until we can't break it again. You'll walk away from a full course capable and confident with your newly acquired life-saving skill set and equipment use. (The time to master these is not during the event) Scenarios are varied but may include a knock & talk gone bad, road stop gone wrong, DV escalating into an MCI. We look forward to showing you our expertise, but more importantly, we look forward to training with you!
